

Ocean warming around the globe

The average temperature of the world's oceans rose to 70 degrees Fahrenheit in April, the highest reading since recordkeeping began.

Past 30-day marine heatwave magnitude (°C)

